Aim

The aim of this item is to benefit moorland, heathland and grassland habitats by reducing or eradicating bracken cover and preventing habitat loss.

On some areas of land, for example very steep slopes, chemical or mechanical control may not always be appropriate. In these areas manual control may be more appropriate.

Controlling bracken can also help to restore a more open structure to the existing vegetation, which will encourage native plants to thrive and provide better habitat for wildlife.

Eligibility

Moorland, heathland or unimproved grassland with bracken is eligible.

You must combine this item with one of the following management options:

- Moorland Management
- Species-rich Grassland Management
- Habitat Mosaic Management
- Heath Management \(Coastal, Serpentine, Lowland and Special Interest\)

Application requirements

You must prepare a bracken management plan, which must include a 1:2,500 or 1:10,000 map showing the extent of the bracken and the areas to be treated. You must estimate how many hectares of follow-up cutting will be undertaken in subsequent years.
